

MONTPELIER GOLFERS WON

Defeated Barre and Greensboro in Triangular Contest

WON BOTH THEIR MATCHES

Barre Took One and Lost One, While Greensboro Lost Both—Daniels of Barre Won the Special Prize Cup.

The Montpelier Country club won a triangular tournament with the Greensboro and the Barre Golf clubs Friday and Saturday, taking both its matches. Greensboro lost both its matches, while Barre took one from Greensboro and lost to Montpelier. All the matches were on the Montpelier links. The special prize cup for the best nine holes during the tournament was won by John Daniels of the Barre club, whose best holes made a total of 34. The cup was presented by Mr. Sanborn of the Greensboro club.

JACK GRACE TOOK ANOTHER MATCH

From Young Hackenschmidt of Boston, Taking Two Out of Three Falls at Hale's Pavilion.

The wrestling match between Jack Grace and Young Hackenschmidt, which was to have been pulled off at Intercity park Saturday afternoon, was postponed on account of rain and was pulled off Saturday evening in Hale's pavilion before a fair crowd of enthusiasts, who got fully the worth of their admission in the two bouts which were given. Grace won the match. Grace got one fall on the Bostonian and after the latter had taken one from him, took the third and deciding fall.

In the preliminary, in which Charles Bixby of Barre and Young French of Montpelier were announced to wrestle best two in three for the championship of Vermont at 125 pounds, Bixby was the winner, taking the match in straight falls.

In the main bout both Grace and his opponent appeared in for business and worked hard for 25 minutes before either got any apparent lasting advantage. First one man would assume the offensive and then the other.

When the timekeeper announced that 30 minutes had passed, Grace seemed to take this as his cue and began working with twice the energy that he had displayed before and at the end of 33 minutes he pinned Hackenschmidt's shoulders to the mat for a fall.

In the second bout the men were in a close tussle for a minute, but neither was able to down the other until, after 13 minutes of wrestling, Hack got Grace in a double bar and held him until he was obliged to go to the mat.

The third bout was even shorter than the second, Grace getting a toe hold and bar lock on his opponent and downing him after eight minutes and 30 seconds of rough work.

The preliminary between Bixby and French was a rattling good exhibition. French was heavier, but Bixby was in better condition and both men worked for business. Bixby took the first fall with a bar Nelson at the end of 14 minutes and the second with a full body and head lock at the end of 13 minutes.

At the conclusion of the match a challenge from Bob Raymond of Providence, R. I., to Jack Grace was read. Raymond agrees to throw Grace best two in three, pin falls, for any part of one hundred dollars. Grace accepted the challenge of the Providence man.

DONLIN SUCCEEDS MURRAY.

Philadelphia National League Magnates Makes Change.

Philadelphia, July 26.—One of the base ball surprises of the year was the announcement made Saturday, that "Mike" Donlin, the star outfielder of the New York Nationals, who refused to play with that club because of differences over the question of salary, will manage the Philadelphia National league club, succeeding William Murray, who has been asked to resign. Donlin will play one of the outfield positions and will also explain the team. In addition to this, it was given out that a new figure has entered the baseball field in the person of Felix Isman, well known in real estate and theatrical circles of Philadelphia and New York, who having acquired an interest in the Philadelphia club, the management announced, through a deal with the New York club, but on what basis the deal was made the club owners will not say. It is said that Sherwood N. Magee, the hard-hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia and Pinner Foxen figure in the transfer, but this cannot be confirmed.

While it has been known that the Philadelphia club owners have been dissatisfied with the management of the team by Murray, his summary dismissal was not expected. The team early in the year was heralded as a possible pennant-winner, but soon after the season started the players slumped. There were many rumors about of internal trouble and changes were looked for among the players. Murray is extremely reticent over the turn of affairs, but it is believed that he has sought legal advice and will not give up his position with the club without a contest. So far as can be learned he has not contemplated to resign and so far as the owners are concerned he is no longer connected with the club. He was on the bench Saturday afternoon directing the players in the double-header with Cincinnati.

CHICKEN MAY RIVAL MAUD S.

Connecticut Rooster, Broken to Harness, Pulls Cars.

Winfield, Conn., July 26.—Judds, a ten-pound Plymouth Rock rooster, owned by Abel R. Woodward, a merchant residing on Meadow street, has been broken to harness by his young son, Irving, who hitches chandelier to a cart and drives him around. Judds can't trot yet, but he is a fast walker and steps off with as much grace and style as any well-groomed steed. The harness consists of a broad yoke, traces and reins. A whip completes the outfit. Judds will stand patiently while he is being hitched and then with a creak from the driver is off.

FLIES ACROSS THE CHANNEL

Louis Bleriot Does the Trick Easily

HE LANDS SUCCESSFULLY

The French Monoplane Is Said to Have Been Slightly Injured—He Has Had Many Miraculous Escapes.

Calais, France, July 26.—Louis Bleriot, the French aeronaut, started at 5 o'clock yesterday morning from Calais, to make an aeroplane flight across the English channel. He completely his flight successfully, landing on the cliffs of Dover, Eng., but is said to have been slightly injured.

M. Bleriot, at 4:35 a. m., started in his monoplane for the flight across the channel. He made several trial flights prior to the start, occupying 10 minutes. The weather was fine and no wind was stirring. A torpedo destroyer followed the aeroplane at full speed. Two torpedo boat destroyers were off Sangatte at 5:10 a. m., awaiting the appearance of Hubert Latham, who also intended to make an attempt to cross the channel. At that hour the wind was rising and Latham failed to appear.

M. Bleriot has for several years been an active aviator in France, and is said to have had more miraculous escapes during his career than any other aeronaut. He made a cross-country flight from Toury to Arthenay, France, on March 21, 1908, in a monoplane. His latest achievement prior to crossing the channel was a flight on the 13th from Etampes to Orleans, a distance of 25 miles. He made a successful landing, covering the distance in 36 minutes 10 seconds, including a stop of 11 minutes near Toury to examine his aeroplane. By this achievement he won the French Aero club prize of $2,800.

Hubert Latham made a daring but unsuccessful attempt on the 19th to cross the English channel in his monoplane. Latham got away splendidly, under perfect conditions, from the top of the cliff at Sangatte, and had covered about half the distance, at an average height of 500 feet, when he was obliged to descend on account of the motor giving out. He was picked up by the torpedo boat destroyer Harpon and taken back to Calais.

Following on Latham's failure M. Bleriot and the Count de Lambert announced their intention to make the attempt and the feverish haste of his rivals induced Latham to make preparations for a second attempt and his machine, a new Antoinette, was put in shape with the utmost celerity. It was Latham's intention to make another trial to-day if weather conditions were favorable.

M. Bleriot's monoplane is of the Latham type, but is the smallest flying machine yet built. It is fitted with a three-cylinder motor, which is air cooled and drives a two-bladed propeller. The pilot's seat is in a skiff-like body behind the wings. Only on Saturday M. Bleriot received the decoration of the Legion of Honor for his efforts in promoting the science of aviation.

Balloons Collide in the Air.

Parachutes Cut Loose Just in Time—One Man Injured.

Newton, Ill., July 26.—During a balloon race Saturday the balloons of Clarence Duncan and Roy Eastman, both of Vincennes, Ill., collided in the air. The aeronauts had just cut loose in their parachutes, which probably saved their lives, as they were about 2,000 feet above the earth. Eastman was badly injured.

Miss Hoffman on Parole.

New York, July 26.—Gertrude Hoffman, the dancer, was arraigned in police court at New York Saturday and paroled until next Tuesday, when the court will take up the question of whether or not her performance at a New York theatre is "indecent, suggestive and immoral" and offensive to public decency," as the complaint charged. The court directed that during the interval Miss Hoffman must not be molested. Her case hinges upon whether or not rights are proper lights if they end at the knee, where the police officer who made the arrest declared Miss Hoffman's conduct. Later yesterday the fact developed that the arrest of Miss Hoffman Friday night after the performance resulted from orders issued by Police Commissioner Baker. The commissioner said that he had directed the arrest after he had witnessed Miss Hoffman's performance.

CONFEREES MEET SUNDAY

Hope for Additions to the Free List

A PARLIAMENTARY SNAG

Some Proposed Compromise Rates That Were Lower Than the Lowest Rates Submitted to Conference.

Washington, July 26.—It is still to-morrow with the tariff conference to complete its work. The end was surely expected Saturday, but shortly before 6 o'clock the body adjourned until Sunday morning and was able only to report progress that was tantamount to a standstill. A conference described the situation as resembling a log jam, the first log piled free being likely completely to clear the situation. It was said that hitches that interlarded were retarding an agreement. It is understood that seven articles are still in abeyance, hides, oil, iron ore and coal, which are called the "provisional schedules" and cotton goods, lumber and print paper. It is reported that an agreement has been reached with respect to gloves on which the lower Senate rates are to obtain, and there is to be somewhat of the increased House rates on hosiery.

Senators Craze and Lodge continued confident that hides would be free and they were reinforced on many sides in this hope and especially by Senator Borah, who was sure of it, yet the conference remained in disagreement. It was learned that one cause of the complications was the proposed reductions in the rates from the House bill on boots, shoes and finished leather products. The thing is how to bring it about. The proposed rates are below the lowest of the House rates, so it is argued that they are not properly part of the conference report and can only be made so by a joint resolution of both houses. If an attempt should be made to secure the passage of such a resolution, it is feared that amendments to it would be offered in interminable number and thus in effect the whole tariff question be reopened.

But the president is especially insisting upon this. He wants to have the tariff bill show as large reductions on manufactured goods as possible. He has also interested himself in other schedules of manufactured goods too late, however, for the wooden schedule but too late, although very embarrassing, in the cotton goods and steel schedules. To callers, Mr. Taft clearly intimated that his interest in the special presidential schedule is as intense as ever and that, he demands have broadened. He appeared to be standing pat, although admitting that everything was muddled up in the air. He had many to see him on the tariff bill Saturday, and shows that he is keeping in closest touch with the situation. Senators Crane and Lodge saw him jointly in the morning and Senator Borah was with him and also Speaker Cannon, who looked perplexed for once. In the afternoon he had Chairman Payne and Representative McCall with him for several hours. Attorney General Wickersham was also with him.

An important tariff conference (and he was not McCall) said that the outlook for free hides Saturday night was not as good as Friday night. It is hard to understand this, in the light of the facts, for apparently nine-tenths of Washington is ready to agree on free hides, and the president is insisting on this, but it would appear that Senators Warren and Carter, abetted by Senator Aldrich, are in the way. Mr. Aldrich probably out of sympathy for Messrs. Warren and Carter, who supported him most loyally in the Senate. There is still hope that the abony may be finished with the close of the week, but Speaker Cannon has bet $10 that Congress will still be found in session on August 10.

It is understood that the president planned a large dinner Saturday night to the 10 senators who voted against the Aldrich bill and to five near-insurgents, and the hope was that at the presidential prandial peace-making a modus operandi might be evolved which would enable every Republican senator to cast his vote to accept the conference report. But the dinner was dependent on the conference agreeing, and they didn't, and the dinner was consequently indefinitely postponed.

The president wrestled with the Republican Senate conferees Saturday night at the White House. The free hides situation at midnight was epitomized by an important senator thus: "It now all depends on the president, and I think it is going to work out all right."

OKLAHOMA OFFICE MUZZED UP.

One Man Shot Another and It Took an Hour to Clean Up.

Washington, July 26.—A man shot to death in an Oklahoma post office caused an interruption of an hour in the mail service. That, in effect, was the substance of a communication received Saturday by the post office department from the postmaster at Duncan, Okla. His letter to the department containing the information is here reported verbatim:—

Sir: I beg to advise you that on the 19th instant at about 3 p. m., two men entered the post office lobby and one of them drew a gun and shot the other three times, killing him at once. The office was closed about an hour in taking away the remains and cleaning up. The party doing the shooting is now in jail awaiting examination trial that is to be held on the 24th. Respectfully submitted for the information of the department. Respectfully, H. H. Dockes, postmaster.

DRY TRAINS IN KANSAS.

Passengers Not Allowed to Drink Liquors Within the State.

St. Louis, July 26.—The Kansas state board of railroad commissioners is sending out notice to all the railroad companies operating in Kansas to begin the enforcement of the law which prohibits drinking intoxicating liquors on passenger trains in Kansas. The law was passed by the recent Legislature, but none of the companies has paid any attention to it. Under its provisions railroads are required to post notices in all passenger coaches that it is unlawful to drink liquors on the train. The law provides that any conductor who finds anyone drinking on the train may arrest the guilty party and hold him until the next station is reached, when the guilty party is to be turned over to the sheriff or any police officer.

JOHN ANDERSON, MY JO.

JOHN IN JAIL AT LAST

Many a Cantie Day, John, You've Had

W' Checks You Passed—Now You Maun Settle Down.

Toronto, July 26.—After having operated successfully as a forger in three counties, John Anderson, formerly ledger keeper in the bank of Montreal here, was arrested last night at Vancouver while presenting a check for $1,000.

When leaving Toronto, presumably because of ill health, he took with him many blank checks and a rubber stamp "Accepted," the latter being the key to his success.

For rapidity of movement Anderson, who is about twenty-five years old, is said to have beat all records. He left the bank March 9, operated in all the large cities between New York and San Francisco, then crossed to France and England.

Recently he returned to Canada and went through to the Pacific coast to attend, it is said, the Seattle Exposition and then on to Japan.

The bank of Montreal will pay part of the cost of bringing Anderson back to Toronto.

HYDE PARK DEMONSTRATIONS.

Many Members of Parliament Take Part in London Open-Air Meeting.

London, July 26.—No Hyde Park demonstration of recent years has been able to boast of such an array of members of Parliament as spoke Saturday afternoon from the platforms erected in London's great open-air meeting place in support of Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George's budget. The crowd in the park probably approximated 500,000 people. The demonstrations, which have been in the course of preparation for several weeks, drew enormous crowds from all parts of the country, and immense enthusiasm marked the proceedings. Prior to the speeches a part of a great procession, estimated at 200,000 persons, marched through the principal thoroughfares of the city to the park. Ninety bands and thousands of banners enlivened the march. The marchers carried banners for the "landless," "abolish poverty," "the commons must not be sold," and "tax the land and not the food," were typical mottoes inscribed on the banners.

TAX COLLECTOR $4,000 SHORT.

F. T. Moos of South Hadley, Mass., Asked to Resign.

South Hadley, Mass., July 26.—A shortage in the tax collections of $4,000, as reported by an expert accountant, caused the board of selectmen of this town at a special meeting Saturday night to demand the resignation of Tax Collector Frank T. Moos.

Moos was not at the meeting but his brother, William Moos, a member of the board, gave assurance that his brother's resignation would be handed in Monday. The town is protected by the bonds of a Boston surety company, a representative of which was here Saturday and placed an attachment on Moos' property.

JEROME TO ASSIST.

Will Question Thaw at Sanity Hearing Next Week.

New York, July 26.—Dist. Attorney Jerome announced this afternoon that at the request of Attorney Gen. O'Malley he would take an active part on behalf of the people in the examination into the sanity of Harry K. Thaw, which will be resumed next Monday morning before Judge Mills in the supreme court at White Plains.

This is regarded as a severe blow to Thaw's chances of freedom, as Mr. Jerome will make a determined effort to have him returned to Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane. Thaw has appeared confident that the district attorney would not go into the present hearing, and the announcement did anything but cheer up Stanford White's lawyer, who will be cross-examined by his former prosecutor.

"Owing to the short time Mr. O'Malley and the present attorney general's staff has had to inquire into Thaw's case," explained Mr. Jerome to a reporter, "he asked me to take a hand in it. This I will do, and I will be on hand Monday morning at White Plains."

TWO DROWNED AT DUNMORE

Boat Overtaken by Sudden Squall

SAD ENDING TO PICNIC

Peter Erickson and Miss Selma Anderson the Victims—Members of a Picnic Party from Proctor.

Salisbury, July 26.—A double drowning late Saturday afternoon ended a merry picnic party of 24 young Swedish people of Proctor who came to Lake Dunmore early Saturday.

The victims were Peter Erickson and Miss Selma Anderson, both 18 years of age. The couple started out rowing on the lake early in the afternoon and were at a point some distance from the shore when a sudden squall drove the waters into white caps. The boat was overturned and both the occupants sank in more than 100 feet of water.

The lake was dragged immediately in an attempt to recover the bodies, but without success. Erickson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erickson of Proctor and had recently been employed as a polisher for the Vermont Marble company. Miss Anderson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Anderson of the same town.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Elizabeth Richmond Held for Death of McTavish at Cambridge.

Boston, July 26.—Mrs. Elizabeth Richmond, a lodging house proprietor, was formally charged with the murder of Stewart McTavish, a teamster at the state insane hospital at East Gardner, in the Cambridge district court Saturday. The body of McTavish was discovered in Mrs. Richmond's house Friday afternoon mutilated by cuts made with an axe and with two bullet wounds over the right eye. Mrs. Richmond lay on the floor in another room in a stupor. Although the police worked all Friday night on the case, considerable mystery surrounded the murder Saturday, and immediately after the court proceedings the investigation proceeded. The motive was robbery, the police say, for McTavish had considerable money when he left his work to attend the marriage of his sister in Boston, Wednesday morning. He had not been seen since. A plea of not guilty was entered by Mrs. Richmond and she was held without bail for a hearing August 3.

Later Saturday afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Richmond secured the services of Attorney Frank Tootill of Boston as counsel, and he was with her in the East Cambridge jail. Late in the day Inspector Kneeland returned to the station with a large bundle, which it was claimed contained important evidence, and Saturday night all the furnishings of the room in which McTavish's body was found were removed and placed in safe keeping, to be used as evidence later.

ACCIDENT AT MANCHESTER, N. H.

Twenty-Five People Precipitated Into The Water By Fall of a Veranda.
